Town Manager's Weekly Report

August 25, 2017

This week's activities of note from the Town Manager's Office:

- Pat Pajaron, Health & Conservation Agent, completed her last day with the Town of Truro today. Pat's knowledge, skills and "get it done" attitude has made her an integral part of our team. All of us that have had the pleasure of working with Pat will miss her and wish her the best in her retirement.
- Great White Shark sightings have been plentiful in Truro this week. On Monday, all four Town ocean side beaches had closures due to multiple shark sightings. Sightings from lifeguards, the spotter plane and the tagging vessel prompted more closures throughout the week. We would like to remind the public to remain vigilant while swimming on both ocean and bay beaches and to heed verbal and posted warnings about recent shark activity.
- Council on Aging Director Travers and I met with Dr. Barry Bluestone to discuss the Senior Needs Survey.
- The Board of Selectmen voted to approve a residential tax exemption of twenty percent. If Truro is your primary residence and you wish to receive the exemption, you must apply for it. You can come into Town Hall for an application or go to the Town Website under the Assessor's Department for the application. ### Department News:

Police Department

- On Monday, August 21, 2017 at approximately 6:35 P.M., the Eastham Police Department received a report of an armed robbery that had occurred at a residence in Eastham. The incident reportedly involved an illegal narcotics transaction within a vehicle in the driveway of that home, and resulted in one individual showing a firearm. The Eastham Police Department obtained a search warrant for the residence as well as an arrest warrant for a suspect on charges of armed robbery and intimidation of a witness. Truro Police Sergeant Jeremiah Valli, along with other members of the Cape Cod Regional Tactical Team, assisted with serving the warrants due to a likelihood of the presence of a firearm within the residence. At approximately midnight, both warrants were served. Several individuals were removed from the residence. After further follow-up investigation, a second suspect was placed under arrest on charges, including armed robbery and assault with a dangerous weapon.
- On Monday, August 21, 2017, Truro Police K-9 Sergeant Steven Raneo, his K-9 partner "Ella", and Officer Thomas Roda attended the Truro Farmers Market. Sergeant Raneo and "Ella" presented a live demonstration of their narcotics detection capabilities.
- A Truro resident and business owner, who wishes to remain anonymous, generously donated over 100 new Teddy Bears to the Truro Police Department. They have been distributed to Department members and placed in all of our cruisers. Officers will give the Teddy Bears to children who witness or are involved in situations that might be frightening or traumatic to them, such as car accidents, rescue calls, domestic violence calls, other calls for service, or to those small children who occasionally stop by and visit the Department. The members of the Truro Police Department would like to thank the anonymous donor for giving us another tool to bring comfort and happiness to the most vulnerable members of our community.
